

Genealogy Links

The following genealogy and history links are recommended by Pennsylvania Room staff and volunteers.

Centre County Sites

- Centre County GenWeb Project [1]: The PA GenWeb site for Centre County. GenWeb is a national and international genealogical project.
- Centre County Genealogical Society [2]: The local genealogy society, who has assembled and published books of cemetery records for the entire county, hosts regular classes on genealogy topics, and publishes a quarterly newsletter, "Roots."
- Centre County Historical Society [3]: Located in Centre Furnace Mansion just outside of downtown State College, the local historical society has a research library of Centre County history and Thompson family materials.
- Union Cemetery in Bellefonte [4]: A searchable database of burials in Union Cemetery.
- The Political Graveyard [5]: Burial locations for Centre County political figures.

Pennsylvania Sites

- Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania [6]: The state genealogical society. This organization is located in Philadelphia and is dedicated to supporting genealogy research in Pennsylvania and its surrounding states.
- Historical Society of Pennsylvania [7]: One of the oldest historical societies in the nation, and also home to one of the nation's largest genealogy libraries. Has a searchable online catalog for its reference collection.
- Pennsylvania Historical & Museum Commission [8]: Home of the Pennsylvania State Archives. Where to go for military records, state birth records (1906-1908), and state death records (1906-1963).
- Daughters of the American Revolution \(DAR\), Pennsylvania Chapters [9]: Contains information from researchers of Pennsylvania surnames.

National Sites

- Ancestry.com [10]: The Centre County Library & Historical Museum has a subscription to Ancestry, which can only be accessed from library buildings, either over our wireless network or on our public computer terminals.
- 1940 Census [11]: The National Archives' official site for viewing the 1940 Federal Census---the most recent census year to become available to the public.
- Chronicling America, Pennsylvania Newspapers [12]: The Library of Congress' digitization project for historic newspapers.
- New England Historic Genealogical Society [13]: This group collects family history materials for the United States and Canada, with materials spanning from the original colonial settlements to the present day.
- National Genealogy Society [14]: One of the two major national genealogy organizations.
- Cindy's List of Genealogical Sites on the Internet [15]: A list of over 189,000 genealogy links, which have been categorized and cross-referenced.
